

Reading Interventions

Reading is a crucial skill for children to learn, sometimes, children require additional support with their reading fluency, comprehension or decoding skills. There are different reading interventions that are used across the school depending on the needs of the individual child.

One to One Reading

Daily one to one reading is used to support children to develop their reading fluency. They will read for 5 minutes every day to an adult and this is in addition to the daily reading lessons in class. The children will read their own school reading book and by reading every day they will develop their reading confidence and fluency which will aid them in their comprehension and reading for understanding.

Bug Club

Bug Club is an online reading system where children read a book (both fiction and non-fiction) online and answer questions about it in order to earn rewards. This is used as a basis for an intervention where children will work in a small group to read the text and work through the questions together in order to develop their reading comprehension skills.

Reading Comprehension

Children that need additional support with their reading comprehension skills may take part in a reading comprehension intervention. During these sessions, children will work together to read a short text and then answer questions based on it. This is usually completed through discussion with each other and aims to develop the children's ability to understand what they have read.

One to One Phonics Tuition

One to one phonics is predominantly used in EYFS and key stage one as it focusses on children's knowledge of sounds and applying these to reading. For additional information on this intervention, please read the 'One to One Phonics Tuition' information sheet.

Precision Reading

Precision reading is predominantly used in key stage 2 to support children with developing their on-sight reading and fluency. For additional information on this intervention, please read the 'Precision Teaching' information sheet.

How can parents/carers help at home?

Reading at home is crucial to helping your child to develop their reading ability. Ideally children should read at least 4 times a week, this does not have to be their school reading book, it can be a book of their choice, a comic, a newspaper or a leaflet. As well as this, reading to your child helps them to develop their reading comprehension skills.
